DESCRIPTION OF EFFORTS
Please describe the types of assistance that your organization has provided to those affected by Hurricane Sandy.	The Salvation Army is now in the 17th month of service to the disaster survivors of Hurricane Sandy. For much of that time we have been in the long term recovery phase of the disaster, meeting the long term needs of those in the three states that received the most damage, including Connecticut, New Jersey and New York. The Salvation Army, throughout the three affected states has opened up disaster case management offices staffed by volunteers and trained professionals to help disaster survivors create a workable plan for moving forward. Part of that workable plan is to address the long term effects of stress by providing emotional and spiritual care for those who are weary in the long process and frustrated by the delays and setbacks they have encountered along the way. In New York, there are offices in Nassau County and Far Rockaway. In CT, The Salvation Army has active offices serving in both New Haven and Fairfield Counties and in New Jersey in Monmouth and Ocean Counties. All of these efforts across the affected areas include professional casework to provide tangible financial assistance to those involved, as well as participation in the Unmet Needs Round Tables and groups. Based on the needs of each community, The Salvation Army is administering outreach to affected individuals and families. These services include: ò Providing financial assistance to meet immediate needs, which could include food, clothing, clean-up supplies, and furniture; ò Moving costs; ò Minor rebuilding or repair costs, which could include household goods & appliances; ò Elevation expenses, where homeowners are required to raise their homes to an acceptable level ò Linking individuals to government and disaster recovery agencies to address unmet needs; ò Providing advocacy and support in navigating the disaster recovery process; ò Providing emotional & spiritual care through our Corps Community Centers and support groups We are coordinating our long term recovery efforts with many agencies, including local, state and national government and NGOÆs. The American Red Cross provided a grant of $2.5M to support our long term recovery efforts. In February, the Greater New York Division hosted Sandy Long Term Recovery Symposium II, a day of networking, information gathering and lessons learned. Sandy Symposium I was a huge success bringing together nearly one hundred large and small organizations.

UNSPENT FUNDS AND PLANS
What is the dollar amount of Hurricane Sandy funds yet to be spent by your organization?	21422984
What is your organization's plan for using any remaining funds not spent for Hurricane Sandy relief?	The Salvation Army respects the wishes of our donors and plans to use all of the donated funds for Hurricane Sandy Relief. We do not anticipate any surplus funds to remain after our long term recovery operation has finished. If any funds do remain, they will be used to replace and replenish those resources and supplies used to support our Hurricane Sandy Relief Operation. The Salvation Army has established spending guidelines and a budget for all of the affected areas with plans to spend all of the funds collected for this disaster event. Despite the ongoing, active efforts of casework and case management through the long term recovery committees, unresolved local and state regulations and issues have slowed our budget timetable. We are monitoring the spending and will extend the timetable to make sure all of the funds are spent to aid Sandy survivors.
